FAQ'S & Info on UIF/PAYE/SDL

What are the Advantages to be Registered for UIF / PAYE / SDL?

- 1. Compliance. Employers are required to be registered under law. Massive penalties could occur if this law is ignored.
- 2. Employee Satisfaction. You can gain trust from Employees if your Business is registered for UIF / PAYE / SDL.
- 3. SDL Funding. As a Registered SDL payer, you can apply to get funding for the Skill Developments that your Company is involved with (if your Company complies with the SDL requirements).

Will UIF registration help my business?

Yes, it will ensure that your employees are safeguarded if you ever need to fire them. Perhaps the benefit is not that directly linked to a profit gain, but it ensures you can take care of your employees in some way if things ever go wrong financially in your business.

Keep in mind, these are the people that help build your business and they deserve to be protected when the economy fails you or if you ever make bad business decisions that cause your employees to lose their daily income. This is especially relevant when their family has no other income and dependents who rely on them.

If an employee offers their daylight hours to help you build your dream, you owe them that security so they can feed their family and get back up in the case of a job loss.
